

Here is a short list of recommended restaurants in Granada and the Tola/San Juan del Sur areas.

Granada:

- El Zaguán: Very conveniently located steps from the central square and probably the best typical restaurant in town. Established 8 years ago, and the quality has remained at the top. Cooked in a wooden oven. We recommend: grilled meats and fish
- El Pizzaiol: great pizzeria in downtown. Pizza and pastas...
- Ciudad Lounge: great restaurant, international cuisine and special atmosphere. 6 blocks from downtown...
- Tranvía: Nica and international cuisine, located at the Hotel "Dario" on La Calzada Street, in a beautiful old colonial mansion.
- Las Colinas del Sur: a "funny" place worth the stop! Located outside the town center (need transportation), this long time family established restaurant lies under a large thatched roof ("rancho") and with dirt floor (sand). Their specialty is the Guapote, a rainbow bass always fresh from nearby Lake Nicaragua.
- El Tercer Ojo: now in its new location in Calle La Calzada, "off- street" (no vendors or beggars) offers "fusion" cuisine. Great atmosphere.
- Espressionista: A gem in the city! Fusion cuisine with different influences. Best for Dinner.
- El Corral: Great ambiance, service and food quality. Specialized in steaks but there are plenty of options to choose from.

Tola Area & San Juan del Sur (Pacific coast):

- "La Terraza" & "La Mesa" at Mukul in Tola: Serves dishes made with local ingredients used in a new way to create their own cuisine "Cocina Nikul".
- Note: At La Mesa Restaurant, reservations only (non-smoking area).
- AQUA Resort in Tola: The beachfront restaurant at Aqua is focused on healthy local cuisine with contemporary flair. Serves a mix of Nica & American dishes, is open from breakfast to dinner.
- Timon in San Juan del Sur: located in front of the beach. Beautiful views, great fish.
- Barrio Café in San Juan del Sur: conveniently located one block west from the market and probably the best Cafetín in town.
- Restaurant at Morgan's Rock: Nica and international cuisine, located in hotel "Morgan's Rock Ecolodge" 25 minutes away from the village of San Juan del Sur.
- "La Cascada" at Pelican Eyes Resort: It is a gourmet restaurant, serves international cuisine and is open daily for breakfast, lunch and dinner, located in hotel "Pelican Eyes" in the village of San Juan del Sur.
